Ernest A. Steuding Nominated Head Of Kingston Post

Election to Take Place This Week at Legion; Steuding's War Record Is Listed

Legionnaires of Kingston Post No. 150 will vote Friday evening for a new commander in the first postwar election, and according to Commander Sam H. Peyer only those with a 1946 American Legion membership card in Kingston Post will be allowed to vote. The election will take place at the Legion Memorial Building, West O'Reilly street. It is estimated that more than 350 World War 1 and World War 2 veterans will be eligible to vote.

Ernest A. Steuding, Kingston superintendent of public works, was recommended to the Post as commander by the nominating committee at the May meeting. Like many of the nominees recommended by the nominating committee he has an outstanding World War 2 record.

Mr. Steuding started his military career in 1926 as a private in the 156th Field Artillery, New York National Guard, and worked his way steadily upward. At the time of his honorable discharge in 1945 after serving with General Patton's Third Army in Germany, he held the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Other candidates chosen by the Legion's nominating committee are: Vice Commander Ray McAndrew, who is Kingston city clerk; James R. Murphy and William J. Murray, all World War 2 veterans; treasurer, William T. Roedel; adjutant, Thomas J. Plunkett; World War 2 chaplain, Clarence Brown; sergeant-at-arms, V. H. Osborne; service officer, Howard Shurtler, both of World War 2; welfare officer, Charles Shultis; athletic officer, Larry Glennon; World War 2 historian, E. B. Carey; trustees, E. Geschwinder, J. Hillis and Dr. Frederick Snyder; executive committee, Harold J. Clayton, World War 2; B. J. Cullerton, Harry Gold, World War 2; and Roy Jacob.

Members of the Legion nominating committee were: Eugene B. Carey, chairman; county commander, Thomas Bonam; Clarence E. Brown, Charles H. Hunner, Jr., and James R. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy, a member of the nominating committee, described the recommendation of Mr. Steuding as based upon his military career as follows:

Mr. Steuding left Kingston in 1929 upon the declaration of a national emergency by President Roosevelt and at that time was a private and was in command of Battery A, 156th Field Artillery.

Congress Gets Bid For Large Army Plans Come Out of Secret Session of Senate Committee

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Plans for a permanent regular army of 1,000,000 men and officers confronted Congress today after a closed-door session of the Senate Military Committee. The pre-war 1939 strength was 188,000.

Senators who listened to top-ranking army planners said the present strength of 250,000 regular army officers for 400,000 in the air forces, 300,000 in the ground forces, 175,000 in the service forces, and 125,000 in training. Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, a ground troop leader in the last war, and Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad, who directed air operations, sat in the closed session with the lawmakers, some of whom have questioned the need for doubling the present strength of 250,000 regular army officers to 500,000.

These senators, who asked that their names not be used, objected that the War Department was asking for its long range postwar authority in pieces, instead of presenting an overall picture.

Armed with carefully covered charts and detailed plans, the army leaders explained that they would need not 50,000 but at least 100,000 officers to lead the peacetime forces.

In addition to the 50,000 professionals or career officers, they said another 50,000 would be obtained from the National Guard, organized reserve and similar units. These officers would be taken for three-year tours of ac-

Senator Burton K. Wheeler lagged more than 4,000 votes behind Lief Erickson, former Montana supreme court justice, in returns today from the Democratic primary which he had hoped would give him nomination for a fifth term.

The 40 year old Erickson jumped into a lead in the urban areas last night and increased it steadily as counting proceeded.

Backers of Wheeler, who differed often with New Deal foreign and domestic policies but received a helping hand from President Truman in the late stages of his campaign, still hoped he would forge ahead in the late-reporting small town and rural districts.

Mihailovic Is Executed At Belgrade

Eight Aides Also Are

Partisan Chief 'Put Finger' on Chetnik
in 1943

Belgrade, July 17 (AP)—Gen. Draža Mihailovic, once acclaimed by the Allied world as the organizer of the Yugoslav resistance movement, died before a firing squad at dawn today—less than 48 hours after his conviction on charges of treason and collaboration with the Germans.

Eight other men who were convicted with the former Chetnik leader were executed at the same time.

The executions were carried out in a private military ceremony. The others executed were: Radoslav-Rade Radic, 56, former Chetnik unit commander.

Milos Glich, 36, Chetnik leader. Oskar Pavlovic, 54, former Zagreb chief of police.

Veljko Vukobratovic, 54, Nedic's minister of education. Djuro Dokic, 72, former minister of Commerce.

Kosta Musicki, 49, former aide-de-camp to King Peter.

Official Yugoslav comment this morning was that "since the pre-emption of the Yugoslav parliament rejected the appeals of the accused men, all the death sentences have been carried out."

Capital Losses Interest

The capital apparently lost all interest once the death sentences were passed. Authorities were diffident about issuing any statement regarding the executions, and the attitude was that news of the executions was unimportant.

Mihailovic and 23 co-defendants were convicted last Monday by a Yugoslav military court. He and 10 others were sentenced to death, and the remaining 13 to prison terms ranging from 20 years to 18 months.

Two of those sentenced to death and eight of those sentenced to prison were convicted in absentia.

The president of the Yugoslav Parliament yesterday rejected appeals for mercy.

The trial of the Serbian-born Chetnik leader and his fellow defendants began June 10, and was marked by partial "confessions" on the part of some of the principals. Mihailovic, however, maintained that he was innocent of collaboration and that he had fought to drive the Nazis from Yugoslavia.

Refused Fliers' Testimony

The Yugoslav Government refused throughout the proceedings to allow U. S. fliers, who had been forced down in Yugoslavia, to testify that they owed their lives to Mihailovic and his Chetniks.

Charges against Mihailovic included an allegation that his Chetniks attacked Partisan forces led by Marshal Tito, now premier of Yugoslavia.

Mihailovic was a regimental commander with the rank of colonel when Germany invaded Yugoslavia in April, 1941. After the government fled, he retired into the mountain wilderness and organized a band of followers. Within a short time, he was recognized by exiled King Peter as the leader of the Yugoslav Resistance Movement.

His very name became synonymous with the indomitable will of minority groups to resist the Nazi invaders.

But in 1943, Gen. Josip-Tito—leader of the newly organized Partisans, accused Mihailovic of collaboration with the Nazis, and there were reports of clashes between forces of Tito and Mihailovic.

Support Is Switched

The following year, first Britain and then the United States switched from Mihailovic to Tito. The U. S. decision was on the grounds that supplies should be made available to the leader who

S. A. Healy Company of White Plains, which already has employees working on the Merriam Dam at Lackawack, is lowest bidder on another New York Board of Water Supply project at Neversink Dam in Sullivan county, it was announced today.

The Healy bid on the Neversink job is $4,076,000 it was announced at the Board of Water Supply Office, 120 Wall street, New York city, where six contractors submitted figures. Spencer White and Prentiss of New York sent in the highest bid, $6,684,500.

The contract for the construction of a cut-off trench and cut-off wall at Neversink may be awarded at the water board's meeting next Thursday.

Sam Doyle, business agent, for the iron workers on the Lackawack project, said today that through unofficial sources he had learned that approximately 20 giant caissons will be sunk at Neversink with men operating on 24-hour shifts of eight hours each. He declined to estimate the number of workers to be employed, but said that many men would be needed.

Mr. Doyle added that for iron workers the same rate of pay, $2.25 an hour applicable to the Lackawack job would be paid on the Neversink project.

"I have been a member, maligned, fastidiously and degraded," Jacobson told the committee.

He said he had been offered to prepare a report which members asserted verged on a "whitewash" of the wartime munitions business of the companies.

Jacobson objected in a statement to the committee to the "public humiliation of having my personal affairs thrown to everybody in this community."

Says He's 'Unashamed'

Jacobson said he was "unashamed" of anything he had done as a lawyer. He said he quit the bar after being told of an investigation by the Bar Association.

Immediately after resigning, he told the investigating committee, he did not know where "fifteen cents was coming from with which to buy my baby milk" so he took a job as a clerk-typist in the War Department.

He testified that in 1942 the War Department learned of his resignation from the bar, investigated the incident and retained his services. His superiors told him, he said, that they had "complete confidence" in him.

Counsel George Meader said the committee may decide within a matter of hours what to do about getting Rep. May (D., Ky.) as a witness.

Well, of course, tradition has something to do with it—tradition which dates back to the days when kings ruled by divine right and were lords of all they surveyed. And the average Briton clings to tradition as a Scotsman does to a peck of herring.

However, it strikes me that the real reason lies in the very fact that these days the monarch has no governmental powers but is completely detached from the political arena.

In Deepest Respect

Because he is wholly outside politics, although devoting his life to the people, he is held in the deepest respect and affection by his subjects. They feel that he is one of the men upon whom they can bank without reserve.

And so, because of the unique position which he holds, an appeal addressed to him, even though he never deals with it, attracts public attention. Proof of this lies in the fact that the food ministry has increased the proposed bread ration slightly for children under 18 since the housewives' protest.

However, that isn't the whole story. Actually, and the constitution notwithstanding, the King of England is a very powerful individual, and the ministers of government pay much deference to his wishes.

The reasons are the high regard in which his subjects hold him, and the fact that the direct heir to the throne is trained intensively from birth for his or her great responsibility. His education includes not only schooling in affairs of the home country but of the entire empire and the world at large. Thus the ruler is supremely well equipped to deal with matters of state.

It probably is true, as I have reported in this column from London six months ago, that the present ruler, George VI, is far less inclined to voice strong personal views than were his immediate predecessors. That would be natural if for no other reason than that he wasn't the direct heir and has had to acquire most of his training since becoming king—is still acquiring it, for that matter. However, his disposition not to interfere with state affairs complements the new Socialist regime perfectly and makes him a most acceptable monarch for a leftist government.

Took Lively Hand

George's grandfather, Edward VIII, took a lively hand in governmental affairs at times, and the next in line, George V, was a chip off the old block in that respect. It was during the nation-wide general strike of 1926, if memory serves me right, that George V sent for the home secretary when the situation was beginning to look ugly and told that harassed minister, "I will not have my people manhandled." And that was that.

Then came the strong-willed Edward VII who gave us that world's greatest throne on which could marry Mrs. Simpson. He was beginning to exercise much influence in public affairs when he quit his job, and a lot of British statesmen breathed easier after the abdication, since many feared that Edward might overreach his position under a constitutional monarchy.

Nothing like that is likely to happen with the present king, but I'll bet a bright new penny that so long as England has a king, just so long will the government pay him deference and grant his wishes where they can. His Majesty is, as previously remarked, a powerful individual.

Albany, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—An official of the State Federation of Labor (A.F.L.), protesting a "no strike" pledge the federal government is asking of postal workers, proposed today a counter-pledge by the administration against reduction of living standards.

Standard Mile Decided

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The Army Air Forces and the Navy got together today on a standard mile. In the future, all navigation by the A.A.F. and the Navy will be based on a nautical mile, approximately 6,080 feet, which is some 800 feet longer than the statute mile. The nautical mile is the distance of one 160th of one degree at the equator and its use facilitates plotting in aeronautical work.

Prices Remain Same

The nation's manufacturers said today the price tag on such items as refrigerators, electric toasters, safety razors, automobiles and many other manufactured products had remained at O.P.A. levels.

The National Association of Manufacturers said it asked 64 factory heads, "have you increased any price since June 30 when O.P.A. ended?"

The N.A.M. said six answered affirmatively, and of these, three said loss of subsidies made an increase necessary on meat and food products. The N.A.M. said two others replied they had been selling below cost under O.P.A. restrictions and the sixth said higher costs of raw materials forced him to raise prices.

The N.A.M. said its survey included lumber, metal products, electrical appliances, auto parts, floor coverings, petroleum, cordage, paper, refrigerators, fiber products, chemicals, air conditioning equipment, farm machinery, food products.

In New York city, the Commerce and Industry Association said that of 141 companies responding to a questionnaire 92 per cent said they had not hiked prices above June 30 O.P.A. ceilings.

U.A.W. President Walter P. Reuther, addressing a police-estimated crowd of 40,000 in Detroit's Cadillac Square, called for the meat buyers strike in order to "restore reasonable prices and to 'terrorize profiteers.'"

Reuther, charging "reactionary elements" were "hell-bent for the good old days," said meat was the only the union's first target. He said rents and other items would follow unless prices were brought down by act of Congress or otherwise reduced.

U.A.W.-sponsored rallies took place in Cleveland, Chicago and other cities in the union's "save the O.P.A." drive. Congress was urged to restore price control and consumers to restrict their buying to "most urgent necessities."

In Detroit an estimated 20,000 Chrysler workers left their jobs temporarily, cutting production. There were no reports to indicate widespread disruption of work, however.

In Philadelphia a torchlight parade was scheduled tonight by members of the United Office and Professional Workers of America (C.I.O.) as unionists continued demonstrations urging revival of O.P.A.

For the foreigner who has been reared in the understanding that England's constitutional monarch has no governmental authority in his own right, there's an odd ring in the current petitions by British housewives to their king to repeal the bread rationing which is scheduled to become effective July 21.

Of course King George can't reverse his government's decision to ration bread and the indignant housewives are quite well aware of that fact, although your correspondent—having experienced Britain's spartan rationing recently—has an understanding sympathy with them in their plea. In the present case the appeals went to the home office to be dealt with, and the chances that his majesty would be consulted about them were indeed remote. Why then are such petitions addressed to him?

Well, of course, tradition has something to do with it—tradition which dates back to the days when kings ruled by divine right and were lords of all they surveyed. And the average Briton clings to tradition as a Scotsman does to a peck of herring. Lost Plane Found On Mountain; Two Fliers Are Killed

The missing Army plane reported down somewhere in Ulster county was located this morning by State Trooper B. B. Barkley on South Mountain at Seager in the town of Hardenberg. Both men in the plane were reported dead.

The finding of the missing plane was due to information received by Sgt. Arthur Reilly of the State Troopers that a resident of Seager had heard a plane crash last Thursday when the plane was first reported missing.

Sgt. Reilly assigned a detail of troopers to search the vicinity.

The plane carried two Virginia aviators in a AT-6 training plane who were en route to Stewart Field at Newburgh from Washington.

Meat Buyers' Strike Projected by U.A.W.

(By The Associated Press)

The C.I.O. United Auto Workers projected a meat buyers strike today to which they invited the participation of all America's consumers.

Fighting the climb in living costs, the big labor union which helped to set up the nation's post-war wage structure sought to mobilize the public against "exorbitant" meat prices.

The U.A.W.-C.I.O., calling for cooperation from its own 800,000 members and all other organized labor and consumer groups, ordered its strike to start today. It is to last seven days.

Worker demonstrations in several cities Tuesday signaled the start of the U.A.W.-C.I.O.'s nationwide "anti-inflation" campaign. Rival A.F.L. unions joined hands with the C.I.O.'s Auto Union in several instances.

U.A.W. President Walter P. Reuther, addressing a police-estimated crowd of 40,000 in Detroit's Cadillac Square, called for the meat buyers strike in order to "restore reasonable prices and to 'terrorize profiteers.'"

Reuther, charging "reactionary elements" were "hell-bent for the good old days," said meat was the only the union's first target. He said rents and other items would follow unless prices were brought down by act of Congress or otherwise reduced.

U.A.W.-sponsored rallies took place in Cleveland, Chicago and other cities in the union's "save the O.P.A." drive. Congress was urged to restore price control and consumers to restrict their buying to "most urgent necessities."

In Detroit an estimated 20,000 Chrysler workers left their jobs temporarily, cutting production. There were no reports to indicate widespread disruption of work, however.

In Philadelphia a torchlight parade was scheduled tonight by members of the United Office and Professional Workers of America (C.I.O.) as unionists continued demonstrations urging revival of O.P.A.

One Man Hanged

London, July 17 (AP)—One man was hanged and another sentenced to death today as police pressed their drive against an outburst of crime in which women have been the chief victims. Thomas Hendren, 31, a ship's baker, was hanged at Liverpool for the slaying of Mrs. Ella Valentine Staunton, 30, found strangled with an electric cord and stabbed May 20.

Joseph Henry Marshall, 30, London laborer, was sentenced to death in London for smothering Kathleen Lindsay, 18, a casual acquaintance with whom he had started to spend the night at a Victoria hotel last month.

Plumbing Code Violators Will Be Prosecuted

Inspector Arnold Takes Up Complaints With Corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig

Many complaints have been received by the Plumbing Inspector Edward R. Arnold regarding violations of the plumbing code of the city in householders having plumbing work done in their houses by unlicensed plumbers.

So flagrant have been the violations reported that the plumbing inspector held a conference with Corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig. Attorney Ewig in a communication to Mr. Arnold has asked the plumbing inspector to report to him any violations of the plumbing code, and all violations will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The corporation counsel's communication to Plumbing Inspector Arnold reads as follows: "Referring to recent conferences had between yourself and myself concerning violations of the Plumbing Code in the city of Kingston, you will be advised that it is my opinion that no person can conduct the business of or called plumbing in the city of Kingston without obtaining a certificate of competency from the examining board of plumbers, and without presenting such certificate in person at the office of the board of health of the city of Kingston, and receiving from said board of health a certificate of registration. This is pursuant to Section 1 of the Plumbing Code of the city of Kingston, and a violation of this code, under Section 97 thereof, is a misdemeanor and punishable accordingly.

"I wish also to advise you, it is my opinion that under the code, no plumbing work can be commenced without it first being brought to your attention that such work is contemplated and that you are required to make the necessary inspection prior to the commencement and during the progress of the work and after its completion, and that the owners of the property affected are required to give you due access to the premises for the purpose of making such inspections.

"You will therefore see that these pertinent sections of the Plumbing Code are complied with and if you will report to me any violations thereof, I will prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law.

"The few complaints about which you have consulted with me have been handled by you in a most expeditious manner, and I feel sure that the provision of the Plumbing Code of the city of Kingston will be complied with."

Portland, the Governor of Oregon and leading churchmen and officials in the cities and rural localities evacuated.

"Mr. Steuding was also Assistant G-3, 44th Division and was Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

"During the Spring of 1943 he was selected by the War Department to attend the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and upon his graduation from this school he was assigned to organize and train for combat a heavy field artillery battalion. He was given command of the newly activated 762nd Field Artillery Battalion made up of men and officers from all parts of the country.

"The 762nd trained in South Carolina and after a thorough test and inspection by the War Department was designated for overseas duty in 1944. The battalion was assigned to the Third Corps of General Patton's Third Army, was put in general artillery support of the Fourth Armored Division and was with the leading elements of Patton's high speed dash across Germany.

"When the war ended Colonel Steuding and his battalion were only 20 miles from Austria and in close proximity to the Russians.

"Mr. Steuding is entitled to wear Battle Stars for the Battle of the Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Germany and he also holds the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service.

"During his five years of active service in the armed forces he received never less than the rating of "Superior," which is top in officer rating for the army. He is one of the very few officers in this locality who is entitled to wear the green shoulder strap patch, which designates a combat commander of front line troops.

"The members of the local Post of the American Legion would do well to elect Ernest Steuding commander for the coming year," Mr. Murphy concluded.

Mr. Steuding is married and the father of two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August O. Steuding, of Hurley avenue, this city. He has been Superintendent of Public Works since 1938.

In the June meeting of the Post the name of B. J. Callout was placed in nomination by Eugene B. Carey, in opposition to Mr. Steuding.

Fall Temperatures Continue in Kingston

Fall temperatures continued to grip the city last night and early this morning with the mercury in the official city thermometer at the city hall hitting a low of 32 degrees during the night.

The extreme cold weather for July follows the humid heat wave that enveloped Kingston last week, with the official thermometer on Sunday recording 93 degrees, the highest point reached so far this month.

Sunday, however, was not the hottest day so far experienced this year, as the city engineer's records show that the hottest day was on June 27, when 96 degrees was recorded, while on May 25, a high of 92 degrees was registered in the city.

Lions Hear Talks By Two Visitors at Tuesday Meeting

George E. Yerry, Jr., newly-installed president of the Kingston Lions Club, presided at his first meeting yesterday at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Mr. Yerry had been serving the unexpired term of Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom, who had resigned several months ago.

Mr. Yerry announced that the Lions board of directors meeting would be held on Monday noon, July 22, at the Stuyvesant Hotel. All new officers and directors will attend this first meeting of the new administration.

The president also announced that committees would be completed for the year and published in the "Weekly Roar", the Lions club official periodical, in its next issue.

A former Lion member, Harry Chandler, paid a surprise visit to the club and seemed to have so assimilated everything pertaining to California, his new place of residence, that he even believes in the statements prevalent about its weather, although he admitted that the dew sometimes dampens the ankles.

Two members of the club, Roger Baer, recently named "King of the Clubs" and Bert Bishop, now district governor of Section 20-S are attending the International Convention at Philadelphia, July 16, 17, 18 and 19.

The speaker of the day, Joseph F. Kennedy, field representative of the Associated Hospital Service of New York which is the sponsoring agent of the Blue Cross Hospital Plan, was introduced by Lew Landers, program chairman. Mr. Kennedy described the steady growth of the plan and pointed out its application locally as it pertained to the individual, who is being given an opportunity to participate in its benefits. He stated that the campaign being conducted for the two hospitals was one of publicity, to stimulate people to take advantage of a protection which a high percentage would definitely need in the coming years.

ANOTHER U. N. SITE SURVEY

A nine-man site surveying commission, headed by Sir Angus Fletcher, is at work to settle the United Nations headquarters location. It is estimated that accommodations will be needed for approximately ten thousand persons, or about three thousand families. The area required will be anywhere from two to ten square miles, with a "buffer state" section to allow for possible future expansion.

A strong bid for location of the United Nations at Ulster Park was made by the local committee, in competition with other eastern communities, when the original U. N. O. Site Committee visited America. Meanwhile the originally proposed Greenwich-Stamford district finds its citizenry divided over the possibility of the U. N. coming there, with groups like the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Association and American Legion favorable, while property owners, who might be forced to move, are opposed.

Civic leaders in many other parts of the United States, such as San Francisco, are bidding for establishment on the U. N. site.

The commission announced that the location selected will be one where the new world capital will be welcomed. Sentiment in the country as a whole is most cordial to the organization. Once set up, such a headquarters is expected to be a tangible monument to world peace and such a community established in the United States will be a source of pride to all Americans.

YOUNGEST NATION

The world's newest independent nation, the Philippine Republic, comes into being with an enormous budgetary deficit and a shortage of staple foodstuffs which threatens famine to the eighteen million inhabitants of seven thousand islands. The President, Manuel Roxas, accused by some as a collaborator because of food collection work under Japanese occupation, has been endorsed by General MacArthur, on whose pre-war staff he served.

The Filipinos, dominated 300 years by the Spaniards and now free 48 years after Dewey sank the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay, face grave problems. Sugar mills destroyed by Japanese are producing only one-tenth of domestic requirements; the rice harvest is small because work animals were eaten by Japanese; locusts have plagued the country. A serious threat to national unity is the Hukbalahap movement in Luzon, where armed peasantry who organized to fight the Japanese are now at war against absentee land owners.

American cooperation continues in the form of $50,000,000 worth of equipment to the army and congressional reconstruction grants of $620,000,000. On the other hand, some native criticism attaches to Roxas' guarantee of American army, navy and air bases in the islands and free trade provisions of the Bell Act, which encourages investments of American capital.

The Philippine Republic is born into the family of nations battered by a difficult history. Whatever the incidental controversies, the Filipinos as a whole know the United States has been their best friend and means to continue as such through the troublesome years of Philippine adolescence.

THEN AND NOW

According to a couple of old chain store advertisements which turned up recently the price of butter was once 19 cents a pound and pork roasts sold for six cents a pound.

To continue this fairy story: eggs were 15 cents a dozen, roasting chickens 18 cents a pound, smoked ham 19 cents a pound, lettuce eight cents a head, flour 63 cents for a 25-pound bag, ketchup 10 cents a bottle.

Today butter is selling in reputable retail stores for prices varying between 70 and 90 cents a pound. Bacon has been found for 55 cents a pound and chicken for 65 cents a pound.

However, the grocery ad quoted above was dated 1932. These were the depression days.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

BILL BULLITT'S REPORT

Few Americans have had as intimate a relationship with Russia as William C. Bullitt. He was in that country during the early years of the revolution when the Bolsheviks were struggling for power against the Russian opponents. He used to be so favorably disposed to Russia that when Mr. Roosevelt recognized the government of that country after Presidents Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover had refused to do so, he selected Bullitt as the first American Ambassador.

So here is the testimony of one who once was not only friendly to Soviet Russia but was acceptable to its leadership. And that too must be remembered about Brookings, Atkinson, of the New York Times, who is now described in "Pravda" as a "honest" man. If all the "honest" internationalists who talk about "understanding" Russia were to spend a year or two there, they would, to use a phrase, get a bellyful as Bullitt and Atkinson did, or as, before them, Eugene Lyons and William Henry Chamberlain did.

Bullitt has written a book, "The Great Globe Itself," the second chapter of which is condensed in "The Readers Digest." Here he unfolds Roosevelt's "Grand Design" which failed and he explains why it had to fail. The "Grand Design" hoped to accomplish:

... by (1) giving Stalin without limit everything he asked for the prosecution of the war, and to ask for nothing in return; (2) persuading Stalin to adhere to statements of general aims, like the Atlantic Charter; and (3) meeting Stalin face to face and persuading him into an acceptance of Christian ways and democratic principles.

If Roosevelt had possessed any historical sense at all—and he was totally devoid of it—he never could have imagined that he might have succeeded in this gamble. He died before he had to admit failure, but millions of human beings in Poland, Hungary, Austria, Germany, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Iran, Manchuria, and Korea have already paid with their happiness and lives for Roosevelt's errors, and the United States faces today an enemy of her own devising, who day after day exhibits his hatred and contempt for us.

Roosevelt assumed that he could convert Stalin by understanding: the Georgian dictator must have laughed hilariously at Roosevelt's misunderstanding. For, Soviet Russia, as Bullitt so clearly establishes, cannot be converted away from its fundamental principle, which is that the entire world must be conquered by Bolshevism before true democracy can exist anywhere. This idea transcends politics. It is the total cause for the existence, for the sacrifice, for the policies and activities of Soviet Russia. Unless that is understood, nothing about Russia is understood.

That is why, for instance, "Pravda" can denounce what we call freedom of the press, for to every Russian, the United States is not a democracy because it has not yet undergone the Bolshevik revolution. The United States, to use a term that Bullitt finds so surely explanatory, has not yet been uncivilized by Soviet Russia, as they have uncivilized every country they have entered.

Bullitt discusses many questions in this chapter, but attention particularly should be called to that government's Fifth Column activities in all countries. Lenin laid down the rule: Communists in all systems of states; and it is inconceivable that the Soviet Republic should continue for a long period side by side with imperialist states. Ultimately one or the other must conquer. Meanwhile a number of terrible clashes between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable.

And following this rule, Russia pursues in every country class warfare by several means; including strikes, stimulation of racial and religious dissensions, the organization of occupational groups on a class conscious basis, the stimulation of hate of man for man. Bullitt describes the Fifth Column thus: "... It issues its orders to these fifth columns and they obey. In democratic countries, the Soviet fifth column camouflages itself as a political party usually called the Communist party. It uses all the democratic liberties, including freedom of speech, of the press and of assembly, to attempt to destroy from within the democratic state which protects it. The sudden changes in strategy and tactics of these Soviet fifth columns are dictated by the Soviet Government." (Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PEPTIC ULCER

Both World War I and World War II caused thousands of cases of peptic ulcer (ulcer of stomach and of small intestine). Most cases healed without the need of surgery, but the patients were placed on a strict diet for months afterwards.

Peptic ulcer was common before the last war among civilians, but it appears to be more common than ever; so much so that almost all physicians have some peptic ulcers to treat. And peptic ulcer is not confined to "high strung," slender, nervous individuals as formerly thought, as "the changes" in this world of ours today are affecting even the stout, wide, jovial individuals. Thus in Great Britain, Drs. F. Avery Jones and H. Pollack in the British Medical Journal report that of 1,522 dyspeptic patients seen at one London hospital, 952 had peptic ulcer (about 2 of every 3).

Unfortunately, while peptic ulcer may, in part, be caused by infection or irritating foods, it is the emotional make-up of the individual that is responsible for the disease. A patient with peptic ulcer after it has healed. This means that unless the patient can control his emotions he may grow or develop a peptic ulcer. Thus a great many of these patients must continue on an ulcer diet. Meals must be regular, diet balanced, avoidance of indigestible foods and fatigue and maintenance of a calm unafraid attitude toward life.

Another unfortunate fact about peptic ulcer is that it attacks men (and women) when they are at their prime from an earning standpoint. Which is particularly unfortunate because the ulcer personality is one of aggressiveness and endurance. The man with peptic ulcer is usually of special value to industry for he is ever-conscious, with plenty of drive and a sense of good standards of work.

The lesson here is plain. Don't try home treatment of chronic indigestion, as about 2 in every 3 cases are caused by ulcer. And even when the ulcer is healed by diet, removal of infection, and medicine, those with indigestion would be wise if they learned a calm philosophy of life if such is possible in their particular case.

Branch of School To Open at Brooklyn

Albany, N. Y., July 17 (P)—A branch facility of the State Training School for Girls at Hudson will be opened soon in Brooklyn.

Robert T. Lansdale, state social welfare commissioner, said today the new center would provide individualized care for a small group of delinquent girls unable to benefit from the broader program at Hudson.

The facility also will be used as a reception-shelter for girls committed to Hudson by New York city courts and as a custodial center for disturbed or runaway girls.

The Brooklyn facility will occupy the upper floors of the building at 108 Schermerhorn St. It will be the second Hudson sub-facility authorized by the 1945 legislature. The first is being prepared in the New Hampton School, New York city-owned property in Orange county.

Judge Rules Man Could Change Mind

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (P)—A man has a right to change his mind as to the number of children he wants, State Supreme Court Justice Bergan has held in refusing an annulment to Mrs. Mary Bohok.

Mrs. Bohok sought dissolution of her eight-year-old marriage on the ground that her husband, John, had fraudulently promised to raise five children.

They have a six-year-old daughter. After the child was born, her husband refused to have more and said he never intended to have five children, Mrs. Bohok contended.

"I know of no case in New York state where an annulment has been granted because of the number of children born," Bergan said in his decision.

"I think the defendant changed his mind about the number of children he wanted to have."

The defendant agreed to have five children but would have only one, I hold that this kind of representation based on the number of children to be born is not ground for annulment."

China Needs Aviation

China needs aviation more than any other country in the world, thinks Edward F. Burton, chief engineer of a leading American aircraft firm, recently in Shanghai.

Possibilities for air transport in China are going to be cashed in on soon, he predicted.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Amateur theatricals played a prominent part in the social life of Kingston during the winter and spring of 1931, and on May 20, of that year, a group of young people from the Reformed Church of the Comforter presented the comedy drama "The Finger of Scorn" in the chapel of the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

Among those in the cast were Paul E. Barnum, William Baker, Joseph Flowers, Frank W. Barnum, C. Edward Rowe, Edward DuBois, Mrs. Paul E. Barnum, Mrs. Joseph Flowers, Lulu Hudler, Mrs. C. Edward Rowe, Mrs. Marion Hudler and Mary Langham.

Byrnes and Vandenberg Speak Out Frankly, Bluntly Regarding Russian Behavior

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 17—One thing stands out in all the comments made by Secretary of State Byrnes and Senator Vandenberg with respect to relations with Russia, and that is a tendency to speak frankly, bluntly and even harshly of the Soviet's behavior in international affairs.

The Moscow spokesmen on their part, do not mince words either. The debate is unprecedented for its studied effort at restraint coupled with outspoken characterization.

When Secretary Byrnes, for instance, says quite casually that it is most difficult to get any agreements except after long-drawn-out debates and wrangling conferences, it is evident that he is expressing, in terms not customary in diplomacy, an obstacle which has become quite aggravating.

The words used could not have been accidentally chosen but rather appear to be deliberate. He says:

"Perhaps the time taken in discussion was not wholly lost, because our experience suggests that understandings, particularly with our Soviet friends, cannot be reached until we have gone through rounds of verbal combat in which old complaints are repeated, past positions reaffirmed, differences accentuated and crises provoked."

"I am ready to believe it is difficult for them (the Russians) to understand us, just as it is difficult for us to understand them. But I sometimes think our Soviet friends fear we would think them weak and soft if they agreed without a struggle on anything we wanted, even though they wanted it, too. Constant struggle, however, is not always helpful in a world longing for peace."

Those two paragraphs are more meaningful than the narrative of what happened at the Paris conference or the discussion with broad diplomatic questions with which the conference dealt. For, obviously, the United States goes along with and understands the comments and speeches of all the statesmen of the other nations of the world. They, on their part, understand our language, but the Soviets have an approach all their own which—to use a word employed by a high British official in private conversation—is "baffling."

But it begins to look as if the other principals at Paris and particularly the members of the American delegation refuse to be baffled any longer and are prepared to let the world be the judge of the reasons for the eccentricity and bizarre tactics of the Russians.

One explanation advanced recently is that Soviet policy is made by Mr. Molotov at Paris by a group of military men. What the world is witnessing is the formation of a victorious nation's policies by a group of military men who are as much an influence on world affairs today as, if not more so than, the German general staff ever was in the past.

There appears no other plausible analysis of why the Russian spokesmen make vehement declarations one day and reverse them the next or why they take positions opposite to Great Britain and the United States no matter what these nations have to be. Thus Mr. Molotov on frequent occasions has accused the Democracies of trying to perpetuate Germany's war potential. Now he argues that Russia alone is anxious to keep Germany from dismemberment.

The truth of the matter is that the Allies have been applying a "squeeze play," and Russia doesn't like it. Failing to persuade Molotov to agree to consider Germany as a single economic unit so far as Britain and America would no longer be compelled to subsidize the separate German economy with taxpayers' money, the United States and Britain began to plan an economic consolidation of two or possibly three of the zones. This is a language Russia understood, and it promptly caused a turnaround in her obstinate tactics. Now Russia, through Molotov, says she is for a central economic control as is the friend of Germany.

Such contradictions may truly be intended to be baffling, but the statesmen of Britain and America intend to expose all these peculiar maneuvers to the world. Likewise, nobody takes seriously any more the trade agreements against Allied statesmen, garrulously apparent influences to large extent what Stalin and Molotov say.

Hence, compromises in Paris reflect compromises inside Moscow. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

CLEAR IT WITH WHO? Sidney Hillman's sudden death left the chair of the P.A.C. vacant and whoever fills it this summer may be only a temporary occupant. It won't be easy to fill.

Hillman's connections were wide and strongly personal, his three major liaisons being with Moscow, the B'nai B'rith and the New Deal Democratic Party—besides his labor union connections. Of these three his strongest, most abiding loyalty undoubtedly was to Moscow. After he came to the United States following the abortive Red revolution in Russia in 1905, in which he participated, he made several trips back to the mother country, one in 1922 to see Lenin and subsequently under names other than his original, Samuel Gilman, or his American, Sidney Hillman. In fact, the first I ever met Hillman was in Moscow in the twenties when he was getting training under expert organizers and propagandists.

He has never departed from the Communist Party line in America, though outwardly at one time just preceding the war, some people interpreted his temporary political stand as opposing the Reds. In 1935 when Moscow called for organizing American labor unions by companies and industries instead of by crafts, Hillman got with Lewis and Murray and put the idea to work in the form of the committee for industrial organization—now the congress for industrial organization.

He was one of the most consistent handlers of funds financing Red journals and activities in this country. And one of the first depositors in his Amalgamated Bank on Union Square was Antonio, Russia's trading agency in the United States.

Hillman's strongest affiliation appeared to be B'nai B'rith. Trained in his youth for a rabbi, he forsook the ministry for revolutionary activity or rather combined the two relationships. Perhaps his closest personal friend and one of his staunchest backers in America was Harry Mankes head of the B'nai B'rith, a highly exclusive and political-minded Jewish organization of known power and political influence.

Third in consistency and apparently in loyalty was Hillman's tie-up with the New Deal. For a long time the Lewis-Hillman-Murray C.I.O. followed Samuel Gompers' dictum of keeping labor unions out of party politics. C.I.O. forces were held in reserve for decisive use wherever political gain looked most promising. But Lewis got more and more closely connected with the Stalin line. Hillman formed a perfectly obvious combine with the New Deal.

In support of this combine he and the known pro-Communist directors of the C.I.O. put over on the labor group in a coup in 1933, the political action committee, P.A.C. designed in part as a device to finance elections without technical violation of the Hatch Act, directed the spending of an amount boasted to be $4,000,000.

Such contradictions may truly be intended to be baffling, but the statesmen of Britain and America intend to expose all these peculiar maneuvers to the world. Likewise, nobody takes seriously any more the trade agreements against Allied statesmen, garrulously apparent influences to large extent what Stalin and Molotov say.

Hence, compromises in Paris reflect compromises inside Moscow. (Copyright 1946 by John F. Co.)

Milk Conference Plated for Monday On Price Contract

Albany, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—A conference of milk producers and dealers supplying the metropolitan New York market will be held in Albany Monday to negotiate a producer price agreement for milk delivered in August.

State Agriculture Commissioner Chester DuMond, who called the conference last night at the request of producers and dealers, said it was for the "sole purpose" of meeting the emergency created by the sudden and unexpected termination of subsidy payments.

Meanwhile, in New York city, officials of milk distributing organizations reported yesterday that while the retail price of milk has risen four cents a quart in the last two months, consumption had declined about 10 per cent compared with the same period last year.

They attributed part of the decrease to the fact that many persons are on vacation.

Army, Navy Union Gets Call to Kill 'Sinister' Actions

Albany, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—The New York State Department of the Army and Navy Union, U.S.A., was called upon today to combat what its commander termed "sinister" activities of the Ku Klux Klan, "fascists and Communists."

Commander Irving G. McGough of Forest Hills declared in an address prepared for delivery at the organization's four-day annual convention that the "principles of these subversive groups are adverse to the decent democratic ideals for which our 240,000 boys and girls have made the supreme sacrifice."

"It has been brought to the attention of our veterans," McGough told the 300 delegates, "that in recent months the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, Fascists and Communists have been reborn and are now the purveyors of wide-spread un-American and vicious propaganda. x x x"

"We must take measures to call upon the Federal Bureau of Investigation to determine to what extent these un-American organizations violate the federal laws x x x We must bring about action to put an end to their sinister and nefarious activities."

The delegates were read a message from Governor Dewey who declared New York was leading the nation in providing emergency housing and educational facilities for veterans and said he believed "that by September we shall be able to meet the needs of our veterans."

Prior to the war more than 60 million pounds of black and white pepper were imported annually by the United States.

'Damask Cheek' Opens; Miss Landi Is Seen in Lead

Another evening of entertainment awaits the audience at the Woodstock Playhouse this week. Although not the calibre of "Heaven Can Wait," John van Druten's "The Damask Cheek" does offer an enjoyable evening.

The action is set for mid-December, 1909, about the time of "Life With Father," but this time it is "life" with Aunt Lucy for the spotlight played by Edith King takes the spotlight both in character and acting ability. Hers is the task of portraying the timeless foibles and eccentricities of the wealthy matron. She arranges every detail for her proper household and everyone is expected to react in accordance with the proper manners of the day. She lived her part.

Many local people will attend the Playhouse this week to see Elissa Landi, well-known actress who has become a resident of Ulster county, with a home on the Plank road. Miss Landi plays the role of Rhoda Meldrum, the visiting English niece of Aunt Lucy. It might be said that Miss Landi stayed in the character of the early 1900's period more so than some of the rest of the cast. However, her movements are often timed too slowly and some of her reactions could be taken at a quicker pace. She takes a long windup for the pitch. The part seemed to be a bit uncomfortable for Miss Landi.

The supporting cast as a whole was excellent. There were a few times when actions as well as several of the phrases seemed quite modern. Some ado was made about the type of liquor served for the women, but it seemed quite the usual thing for the women to smoke cigarettes in 1909.

Versatility Is Shown
There seems to be a great versatility among the resident company of the playhouse as each play brings back several of the members in different types of roles. Stephen Elliott is the suave ladies' man this week. He was the butler in the first play, a rather stupid individual in the second and had the lead of the prize fighter in "Heaven Can Wait." Robert Gill is back and as usual is bent on making the forlorn lady happy although he does have a time with a young actress in "The Damask Cheek." The young actress was played by Lois Slessinger last night substituting for Blanche Gladstone who was unable to appear because of a family bereavement. Miss Slessinger was most attractive and properly mean in her quest for security.

The younger brother and sister of the family were appropriately portrayed by Michael Sivy and Nancy Chase. Both have managed the parts in this play better than those in previous performances. Virginia Genore De-Koven as the maid added humorous anecdotes to the general plot. Again Albert Hesong deserves praise for the setting. The walls are emerald green this week with creamy white scroll decorations.

The production was directed by Mary Morris with Ambrose Costello as stage manager.

According to the program, "The Skin of Our Teeth," originally scheduled for next week, has been postponed because of production difficulties. "Double Door" by Elizabeth McFadden will be given in its place. This will mark the first appearance this summer of Miss Morris.

Pope Gives Views

Vatican City, July 17 (AP)—Pope Pius XII declared in a broadcast address last night that the modern world must seek to achieve "humility, simplicity and purity if it does not wish to fall into the abyss of arrogance, duplicity and corruption toward which it is rushing with giant steps." The Pontiff's address was beamed to Colombia, where the first post-war Congress of the Blessed Virgin Mary is being held in Bogota.

Floating Island Is On Loose Again at Bear Mountain

Bear Mountain, N. Y., July 17 (P)—For the first time in three years "the floating island of Lake Tiorati" is off on a summer cruise, much to the pop-eyed amazement of vacationers.

The little island, an acre in size and home to several families of wood mice and birds, is meandering along at the rate of several hundred feet a day.

Even the most convivial picnickers are inclined to take the pledge when they wake up from a nap under the trees in Palisades Interstate Park and find that the island which stood just offshore isn't there anymore.

Floating island was formed in 1924 when a prehistoric meadow bog was flooded. It is four feet thick and was anchored in Lake Tiorati by a few roots until the 1938 hurricane set it free to go a-sailing—in any direction about the 320-acre lake.

Sometimes it ties up for weeks or years at a time. This year it has the wanderlust and park officials are inclined to view its caprice indulgently. There will be no anchor-to-windward for Floating island.

Klitgaard Painting Attracts Attention

Georgina Klitgaard's "View of Kingston" has attracted local attention in The Saturday Evening Post. It is used as an illustration by a prominent national advertiser.

"View of Kingston," presumably painted from the West Chastnut street hill, shows the Hudson river, the Rondout creek bridge, prominent in the painting is the former Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Klitgaard's work hangs in the Metropolitan Museum, the Brooklyn Museum, the Whitney Museum and other collections. The artist lives at Bearville.

Red Writer Gives More Thoughts on Life in America

Manufacturing Is Good but Knowledge of Politics Is Bad, He Says

Moscow, July 17 (P)—Ilya Ehrenburg, in the second of a series of newspaper articles on his recent tour of the United States, said today that Americans had developed an "astounding technique" of manufacturing but were badly informed about world problems.

The Russian newspaperman, who declared in the first of his series of Ivestia articles yesterday that many Americans were "provincial dummies," said today that their "political level is also very low."

Americans are inadequately acquainted with the outside world, Ehrenburg said. "They badly need to study the old world. A group of pupils could not name even one city in the Soviet Union."

He pictured the United States as being composed mostly of identical cities and towns.

"I was in many American towns and could not tell one from another," the Soviet newspaperman wrote. "Each town has its main street."

Two or three American cities, San Francisco, Boston, New Orleans—have maintained an individuality, he said, but "the remaining cities have no face of their own. They are only a collection of Americans."

He said New York was composed of several separate cities, including "Negro Harlem" where there are "private pawn shops where one may pawn one's pants."

He said goods were standardized in the United States, and added that "I think we can study from the Americans how to make shoes and pots quickly and good."

"I do not agree with European esthetes who laugh about American standardization. Let all suits look like one another; all the same, they are obtainable for all."

"Americans love to make money, but they do not know how to spend it. I do not want to say they are stingy. They spend money quickly and energetically, but without thinking."

He said he saw many drunken persons in America and observed that Americans love automobiles and trade in their cars every year or so.

He said American intellectuals were "still weak and not confident of themselves. They seem to hide behind floodlight signs and citations from the Bible. But there are some very intelligent people who think that their salvation is not in flight, but in raising the spiritual level among average Americans."

Indiana Child, 7, Slain; Man Held

Michigan City, Ind., July 17 (P)—The nude body of a 7 year old girl, fished from a game with playmates on a Lake Michigan beach yesterday by a man on a motor scooter, was found early today under a wooden box on the outskirts of Michigan City.

Police Capt. Lyman D. McKee said that a 27-year-old Michigan City man taken into custody led police to the spot, five miles from the beach. McKee said the man related he had strangled the child and hid her body after driving her on his scooter to the secluded area.

The victim was Dayda Lisak, whose father, Ben Lisak, is a shipping clerk for a transfer company here.

Fashionable Club Head Arrested After Raid

Freehold, N. J., July 17 (P)—John C. Osterstock, 43, president of the firm which owns the fashionable Seabright Yacht Club, was released in $15,000 bond last night on four charges growing out of a Monmouth county gambling raid at the private club July 7.

Osterstock, arrested on a five charge two days ago in his home town—Darien, Conn., protested his innocence at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Fred Quinn yesterday on charges of operating and maintaining a gambling establishment, aiding and abetting the operation of a gambling establishment, resisting arrest and escaping from county authorities.

Pig No. 311 Is Living Hero Of Bomb Blast at Bikini

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
Avoid USS Appalachian, July 17 (P)—Pig No. 311, sole survivor of the atomic bomb blast on the unknown Japanese heavy cruiser, is the living hero of the crossroads operations and bids fair to become the real hero of medical atomic pioneering.

He is one of more than 3,000 animals affected by radioactive rays. These animals are the first in the defense against radioactive ray death. They are repeating in actual history. Many times in the past animals have shown the way to medical discoveries.

Pig No. 311 is still nameless. This husky porker more than any other animal typifies the young, fighting man's experiences. He is California bred. His ship was terribly hit by everything the bomb had. He was found swimming, 21 hours after the sink. His age is relatively that of a young man of 20—such as must stay aloft so long.

No. 311 has had three doctors in attendance. He has had penicillin and liquids. His symptoms are a mild dry secret.

But what this means after an atomic bombing is no secret to those familiar with radioactive medicine.

It is No. 311 were quartered in a butcher shop his meat probably would look like the same. But actually, it is a different kind of pork chops.

Nitrogen Becomes Carbon
Rays that hit him change nitrogen into carbon. Less pork and more carbon probably would be the verdict if a true atomic autopsy were possible.

Salts chlorine and other common chemical compounds in his body probably have been altered. Even his bones should contain some strontium of fireworks, fame and other elements not usual in bones.

All this simply means the possibility of one more added hazard in the efforts to save him. This sort of change in the living tissues were suggested by one of the scientists who came out on the USS Panamint as an atomic observer.

New Species of Flowers
New species of flowers have been produced by atomic rays. So why not new kinds of meat and new flavors of pork?

From different kinds of physical damage No. 311 should be suffering from blood bone marrow and malaise fever loss of appetite and bleeding both internal and external.

If he were human he should suffer from sterilization which, however, would involve no real suffering because his male sex hormones would remain lusty and active.

This pig like the crew had one been aboard, inhaled some of the radioactive particles after the blast. Human beings retain such particles in a considerably larger percentage than do the usual test animals which are rats and mice.

No. 311 has larger lungs that may tell a more useful story of the inhaled particles.

One reason for pigs on the crossroads test was the fact that of all animals their skins are most nearly like that of humans. That means that No. 311's skin would react to heat and X-rays in human fashion.

40-50 Cent Cotton Talk Heard in South

New Orleans, July 17 (P)—Talk of 40 and 50-cent cotton is being heard throughout the south, since OPA controls apparently are off the market for good and 35 cents a pound has just been passed for the first time in more than a score of years.

Discussing the crop which today is worth a potential $300,000,000 more than last June 1, J. L. McDonald Texas commissioner of agriculture predicts that the price may soar as high as 50 cents a pound within the next few months.

are now installed in company owned fixtures mounted on a variety of pole supports between Crown and Washington avenue.

Mr. Strong pointed out and if the plan to widen the streets goes through these old poles will be taken down and replaced with modern ornamental poles similar to those now installed on the street between Wall and Crown streets.

Mr. Strong said that these new lights could be served from overhead in a manner similar to that employed on Broadway. One wire running between standards, he said, would not be unsightly and would provide the best exposure method of connection, but underground connections could be provided if desired.

These new fixtures could be spaced correctly to provide better illumination and more or less than 14 fixtures might be required. The size of the lamps in the new fixtures should be increased to either 1,000 or 1,500 candle power for best results, said Mr. Strong.

Republican Says Red-Fascists Run Democratic Party

New York July 17 (P)—Carroll Reece Republican national chairman said last night that control of the Democratic party has been seized by "Red-Fascists" who seek to fasten upon this nation the very form of government against which we have just waged a great and victorious war.

"I do not for a moment suggest that a majority, or even a major fraction of Democrats, believe in this Red-Fascism which seeks to mask itself under the label of liberalism," he told the National Republican Club.

"What I do mean, however, is that members of this radical group have insinuated themselves into positions of great powers on the policy making level in the Democratic party and in the present administration in Washington."

"They call the tune to which the administration dances, and the tune is strangely like the Internationale. The road down which they are taking us lead to one inevitable end—a one party system and a police state."

Reece asserted that "the ideology of the radical group which is largely directing the policy in the Democratic administration is essentially based upon Marxian socialism."

He said the Democratic party—"if it can be called a party"—was split into "three distinct and mutually antagonistic elements which he described as the south, 'the big city machines' and the 'Red Fascists'."

Finding TB

In many communities throughout the country a search for a certain disease is being carried on today among apparently healthy people. There is good reason for this.

The disease is tuberculosis and tuberculosis often has no outward symptoms in its early stage. People may be losing their health and giving the disease to others before they know they are ill.

We know there are approximately half a million people in the United States suffering from active tuberculosis. This figure is based on careful surveys, which have revealed that the ratio of persons with tuberculosis to the deaths from tuberculosis is slightly more than nine to one.

If 55,000 people die from tuberculosis a year—as they did in 1944, the last year for which complete statistics are available—and there are nine cases for every death, then 495,000 people have tuberculosis. About half of these cases are known to health authorities and are under medical care either in hospitals or at home.

This means that nearly 250,000 people with tuberculosis are not known to health authorities and are not receiving proper care and many do not even know they have the disease.

Because of the two-fold health hazard of the unknown case of tuberculosis—the hazard to the individual and the hazard to the community—it is important to find these unknown cases.

To find them, X-ray examinations are being made of apparently healthy people. X-ray pictures of the lung often reveal the presence of tuberculosis before any outward symptoms appear to warn the individual of his illness. By X-raying large groups of people who are seemingly healthy, unknown cases of tuberculosis may be found.

With the mobile equipment available today which uses miniature or paper film for taking X-ray pictures, the examination of groups of people—for example, workers in an industrial plant—can be X-rayed in an hour on the miniature or paper films used with mobile or portable units.

These films are used to "screen out" doubtful cases, not for final diagnosis. If the paper or miniature film reveals suspicious signs of tuberculosis a thorough examination is made which includes other X-ray pictures.

Mass X-ray examinations are an effective method of finding unknown cases of tuberculosis. As soon as the cases are found steps can be taken to provide treatment for the individual.

Measles will be discussed in the next article.

TB Association Sells Happyland

Will Use Funds to Conduct Other Health Projects

The Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association has completed the sale of Camp Happyland. This property was operated for several years as a health camp for Ulster County children. The camp has not been open for the past three summers. Tuberculosis authorities now advise that the expenditure of monies raised in the campaign to fight tuberculosis can be used to much greater advantage in other projects and that the health camp operated for two months out of a year will not prevent children from developing tuberculosis.

In discontinuing the camp, the association voted in favor of an all-year round program in nutrition and the mass chest X-ray program. A full time nutritionist is employed by the association. In cooperation with the State Department of Health in the county and with the Kingston Board of Health, Mrs. Marion E. Sahler, the nutritionist, visits the Child Health Consultations and Dental Clinics in the various communities, and carries on a program of food exhibits, demonstrations and budget planning. Many individual consultations with mothers are also carried on at these meetings.

Because of the need of nutritious foods, other groups, clubs, church societies, etc. in the county are encouraged to cooperate in this program.

Within the two years, the association has also taken up an extensive project in a mass chest X-ray program. These surveys include industries, schools and the community in general. Any individual may have a chest X-ray without cost. Christmas Seals funds finance all of these programs in the interest of tuberculosis prevention and building of health.

Kingston has been named as one of the cities he will visit along with Evansville, Ind., Beckley, W. Va., and Rochester, Minn.

Seven U. S. Fliers Underwent 'Death March' in Reich

Washington, July 17 (AP)—A wartime "death march" of seven American fliers on the German island of Borkum in the North Sea two years ago was brought to light today with identification of the airmen.

The seven, crewmen of a bomber which was forced down on the island August 4, 1944, were beaten as they were forced to march through the streets and dunes, were shot and killed by Nazi soldiers, the War Department disclosed.

For the war crime, four German officers and men and the mayor of Borkum were sentenced to hang at a court martial trial at Ludwigsburg, in the American occupied zone of Germany, and nine other individuals were sentenced to prison.

Western Allies Get Rough Treatment

Belgrade, July 17 (AP)—A crowd of approximately 50,000 persons, which gathered here last night to protest the Big Four Foreign Ministers' decision to internationalize Trieste, heard speakers denounce the Western Allies and eulogize Russia as the "guardian of small nations."

Victims were notified belatedly of the circumstances this week by the adjutant general. They included:

2nd Lt. Howard S. Graham, mother, Mrs. Gladys N. Graham, Haight avenue, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Sgt. Kenneth Faber, wife, Mrs. Pauline A. Faber, 239 Knowlton, Kenmore, N. Y.

REY de la TORRE

Return Engagement
The return engagement of Rey de la Torre, brilliant young guitarist Thursday evening, July 18, promises to be one of the most brilliant musical events in the season of concerts presented by the Woodstock Summer Concerts in the Woodstock Town Hall.
The recent change of weekly concert time to Thursday evenings has met with such complete approval that an unusually large audience is anticipated. The growing interest locally in guitar music is due largely to the response to Mr. de la Torre's first concert. Such enthusiasm is rarely seen and heard in the concert hall. Some of the most enthusiastic were a few skeptics who expected an afternoon of strumming in typical Hollywood fashion. Typical reaction of one listener was: "But... this is an entirely different sound from anything I have ever heard. There seems to be quite a bit of the lute and the harpsichord in it. It's an antique sound and yet... the message is modern. There were nuances I never dreamed existed."
For the benefit of those who were unable to hear him the first time, Mr. de la Torre is planning to repeat a portion of his first program. However, the same balance of antique, romantic and modern music will be maintained. Most of the program will be devoted to compositions written for the guitar with the exception of a group of pieces originally written for the "vihuela," the instrument from which the modern guitar is derived.

Good Taste Today
By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)
"NEVER-TOLD-NO" CHILDREN
A very familiar plaint is the following: "Because of some children who have come to live in the cottage next to us this summer, and who are making themselves a nuisance to the entire neighborhood, I am wondering if you would write something in your column against this continuing theory of letting young children do exactly what they please with never a correction, let alone punishment."
As many of my readers know, I am not in sympathy with the "never-say-no" theory of child treatment—I can't call it training! My sympathy with these children is certainly not for their behavior but because of what seems to me the definite unhappiness of their future and the struggle that will be theirs to overcome because of lack of early training in the requirements of decent behavior.
Non-Alcoholic Beverages
Dear Mrs. Post: What is the most suitable beverage to serve at a wedding reception when one family are teetotalers, and the other offended if alcohol of any sort is served. In other words, we want to have something that seems wedding-like to those who are accustomed to a sparkling toast, but we want to respect the other family's known dislike.
Answer: There are several beverages that would be suitable. Such as: Sparkling ginger ale, white grape juice, or fruit punch. For the other guests, a moderate supply of our own domestic champagne could hardly be called "strong drink."
At Debutante Party
Dear Mrs. Post: Should one wear a short or long dress to a five o'clock formal party "introducing" a daughter? (2) Would it be all right to send a small gift in lieu of flowers to the daughter? (3) If so, what?
Answer: (1) Long preferable, but short not improper. (2) Yes. (3) Any small personal item or trinket.
How Many Wedding Cakes
Dear Mrs. Post: Can the same wedding cake be cut at the small family dinner being given immediately after a private marriage ceremony, and then again at the large reception being given later in the day for many others? Or should it be saved for the reception, or should there be two cakes.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Lillian Fuscuard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuscuard, East Kingston, to John Augustine, son of Michael Augustine of East Kingston and the late Mrs. Augustine. The ceremony was performed June 30 at St. Colman's Church. (Sterling Photo)

Answer: One at the reception would be best.
How early are wedding invitations mailed? The answer is found in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to her in care of Kingston Daily Freeman.

Deadlock Threat Verges on O.P.A.

Washington, July 17 (AP)—A deadlock threat plagued administration efforts to strike a bargain on O.P.A. today.
President Truman was reported willing to sign the Senate's Re- vival Bill, provided Congress restores price ceilings on meat, eggs, butter and other foods.
But Senator Taft (R-Ohio) who bore the brunt of Mr. Truman's criticism in the previous O.P.A. veto, told a reporter he is unwilling to budge an inch on the new bill which the President has said "couldn't be any worse."
"Of course the President would sign the bill if we put such things as meat, eggs and butter back under controls," Taft said. "I have no desire to compromise the bill. If the President wants to veto it, then let him veto it."

Bacon Will Tour To Coast and Back In 1911 Vehicle

Wellesley, Mass., July 17 (AP)—They used to laugh when John Bacon sat down behind the wheel of his 35-year-old Locomobile touring car, but they're betting now that he will make Los Angeles, Calif., and back in 20 days.

It's "California or bust" for Bacon, a senior at Harvard, and his resurrected refugee from a museum which somewhat resembles an open sun porch on wheels. With an affectionate slap on the flat mud guard and a fond rub of the brass lamps, Bacon said:

"This car can do 35; that's an insult. My car will do 60 without even trying. E. I. don't want to wear it out on this trip so I plan to average only 300 or 400 miles a day."

It's not the trip so much as the souvenir hunters that worry Bacon. A well preserved item of ancient automobile beauty, the old "Loco" offers tempting morsels to antique lovers with its acetylene lamps, klaxon horn, brass tie rods, crank-it-yourself starter, right hand steering wheel, trunk, tool box and tending, don't-pinch-your-fingers, hand-operated top.

Bacon plans to travel only by day on his cross-country tour. Should any breakdowns occur, he figures optimistically that there will be a machine shop near enough to tool up special parts. Friends say that Bacon has rediscovered the lost art of changing high pressure rim-wheel tires.

Bacon has had several offers to buy the car. The lowest was $25 and the highest $300. But with its polished brass trimmings glittering in the summer sun, Bacon values it at $1,500.

The Harvard man is a four-year veteran of the wars, that is, not cross country racing. If everything is in order he'll take off July 20.

One Output Dives

Not only did Italy's output of iron ore show a startling drop in 1945 to 49,256 tons, only five per cent of 1939 production, but this year's results are almost equally poor and no immediate return to high production is seen. Lack of coal is the principal reason.

SECURES PLANE FOR TRIAL PERIOD

The Kingston-Ulster Airport at Lake Katrine off the Saugerties Road has secured a twin-engine Cessna, five-passenger plane for a 30-days' trial period. This plane will be available for local and also long-distance flights to any section of the country. Thomas Heard, manager and operator, states that if the trial period proves successful, the plane will be kept in operation at the local airport for non-scheduled charter flights. Richard Nace, Kingston pilot, who during the war was a lead crew pilot with the 5th Air Force in England, will pilot the plane. He piloted a B-24 and completed 25 missions against the enemy. Additional hangars are being built at the airport, where there is a 3,600-foot runway running north and south. There is considerable activity at this airport, including passenger hops and student instructions. (Freeman Photo)

Game Ends in Tie

Baptists, Port Ewen Play 4 to 4 Deadlock

The First Baptist and Port Ewen softball teams battled to a 4-4 tie at Forsyth Park Tuesday night in a regular Federation League contest left over from the first half. The game was called at the end of the eighth due to darkness.

Port Ewen held a 4-1 margin going into the fifth. Then the Baptists staged a rally on successive hits by Sonnenberg, Steeger, Hesleiner, Bob Hunt and Petramale to knot the count.

Bob Hunt started for the Baptists and worked until the fourth when his brother, Al Hunt, came on to relieve. Al took over with two runners on and no outs in the fourth. Al turned in a nifty relief stint by allowing only three hits the rest of the way. He fanned one Port Ewen side in the final session.

Bill Ferguson pitched the complete eight stanzas for Port Ewen and was touched for 11 hits.

Score by innings:
Baptists . . . 010 030 00-4 11 2
Port Ewen . . . 201 100 00-4 9 4

Batters—R. Hunt, A. Hunt and Sonnenberg; Ferguson and Walker.

Church Bells Sought

Europe's expert bellringers are coming back from the wars and the chimes and peals from old churches form a swelling chorus, but it will be a long time before all the bells are back. Amsterdam points out. In Holland and Belgium, bells that formed part of world-famed carillons were mercilessly pillaged to make cannons and munitions. Less than a year ago, Allied soldiers came upon a store of over 800 splendid bells from the Netherlands dumped in a Hamburg foundry.

Ervin Dusak, virtually unknown rookie outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the featured boy to thousands in St. Louis today.

Smacks Vital Blow

Known as "Four Sack Dusak" or "the Bohemian Blaster" during his tour of the Cardinal farm system, Dusak hammered what perhaps may become one of the most important blows of the National League pennant race at Sportsman's Park last night.

The 26-year-old native of Chicago clouted a three-run pinch-hit ninth inning home run to give the Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers and move the Redbirds to within a half game of the Braves.

Dusak batted for pitcher Howie Pollet in the last frame after southpaw Joe Hatten had nipped Marty Marion with a pitched ball and Clyde Klutts singled. After fouling off a pitch and taking a called second strike, Dusak crashed Hatten's next offering into the left field stands to enable the Cards to sweep their four game series from the Braves and send 26,591 fans home delirious with joy.

Chicago's third place Cubs missed an opportunity to gain on the Dodgers as Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants blanked the Cubs, 1-0 on six hits. Bill Rigney singled in the winning run in the ninth frame to keep the Bruins four-and-one-half games off the pace.

Feller Stops Bosox

Boston's front-running American League Red Sox dropped their second home game of the season to a western club as Bobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians scattered nine Red Sox hits to post his 16th win of the year.

Feller fanned seven batters to run his strikeout total to 202 for the season. Ken Keltner slammed two home runs and Pat Seery one to aid the fireball king to a 6 to 3 victory.

Braves in Fourth

The Boston Braves took over undisputed possession of fourth place in the senior circuit by trouncing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-0 behind big Mort Cooper while the Cincinnati Reds were shutout, 2-0 by Schoolboy Rowe of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The St. Louis Browns retained the fifth place deadlock with Cleveland by trimming the Washington Senators, 7-1 behind Jack Kramer.

In the only other contest of the day, portside Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox limited the Philadelphia Athletics to five safeties in elbowing the pale hose to a 6-2 victory.

The New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers were not scheduled.

ROYCE LINT

ROYCE LINT, southpaw, and Pete Gebrian probably will be the Albany pitchers when the Senators clash with the Kingston Recreationers in an exhibition game at municipal stadium Saturday night. Lint, a former G.I., who is known as "The Thin Man" passed four years in the Army Air Corps and did a lot of pitching for Maxwell Field where he won 16 games last year. Two of his victories were no-hitters. Lint broke into organized ball in 1939. He spent the spring training season with the Pittsburgh Pirates but was sent to the Eastern League club on option. He is the only lefthander on the Albany mound staff.

May Tour Sweden

Buenos Aires (AP)—Swedish football fans may get the chance to see Argentine players in action before long. Dr. Rudolph Ulmark, vice-president of the Swedish Sports Academy, on his departure for Stockholm after talks with sports authorities in this country, said it was possible an Argentine football team would tour Sweden in 1947. He said plans also were being made to bring ten outstanding Swedish athletes to Argentina next year.

Newburgh Wins Rifle Match

Newburgh won the fourth annual Mid-Hudson Rifle League match at the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club Range Sunday afternoon with a score of 1933. Kingston placed sixth with 1942. Others were Millerton 1950, Catskill 1947, Poughkeepsie 1944 and Ellenville 1943. The local rifle team was composed of George Mustaparta, R. Green, Ralph DeGroot, Ted Holmes and A. Paradies. Nelson Given Odds In Chicago Victory National Tourney

Putter Troubles Make Ben Hogan Underdog in $10,000 Meet Starting Today

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—Blazing Ben Hogan, just like the lowly underdog, is having putter trouble and so his arch rival, Byron Nelson, is favored in the $10,000 Chicago victory national golf tournament opening today at exacting Medinah Country Club.

Hogan, golf's leading money winner with a 1946 take of $25,214, has been a feeble also ran in his last two starts and plainly has putter jitters.

It dates back to a costly 18-inch miss in the Augusta Masters and an equally distressing 32-inch fizzle in the U. S. Open. Hogan, long regarded as the perfectionist of the game, now is testing new putters in desperate fashion and forgetting his practice tee shots for long sojourns on the putting velvet.

All of which may point to a repeat triumph for Nelson in the victory open which starts Friday following a two day session of 36-hole scrambling for pro-amateur, pro-lady and pro-senior titles over the grueling No. 3 course at Medinah.

Nelson, who won the 1945 victory open at Calumet Club with a 13 under par 75 for 72 holes, is bracketed in ostensibly the strongest foursome for the combination competition today and tomorrow.

Also in Lord Byron's troupe are Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., amateur who won the $20,000 Kansas City invitational last week-end; Betty Jameson, former women's champion and veteran Chick

Marines to Hold Night Baseball Game at Stadium

City All Stars Are Slated to Play Angelo Bertelli's Springfield Club During August

The Marine Corps League, Ulster County Detachment granted the use of municipal stadium by the building and supply committee of the Common Council at a meeting of the committee Tuesday night at the city hall.

The newly-formed organization received permission to use the stadium for a night baseball game which is tentatively set for either Sunday, August 4 or Monday, August 5 at which time a team known as the Kingston All Stars composed of city war veterans, will play Angelo Bertelli's Springfield Browns.

Springfield appeared here earlier in the season and scored an 8-0 victory over the Kingston Recreationers. Springfield won the game with an eight-run rally in the ninth inning. Bertelli, the former Notre Dame gridiron ace, played centerfield in the game and bashed out two singles.

Presbyterians Win

The First Presbyterian softball team scored a 10 to 8 victory over the First Dutch team last night in a regular Federation League game at Hasbrouck Park.

The winners enjoyed a big first inning by pushing over six runs while the losers bounced back with four. Harold Smith and Tinner worked for the Elmendorf street softies while Pete Boolukos and Steketee went the route for the losers. Rich Little and Dunham each poled homers for the winners. Smith and Bill Thomas whacked triples for the Presbyterians.

Ladylykes Win Game

The Ladylyke team of East Kingston defeated the Swamp Lilies Sunday by a score of 6 to 5. Harry Secreto hurried for the winners with McCullough catching, McCordie, Brown and Gregory worked for the losers. East Kingston pushed over the winning run in the 10th inning of an exciting ball game.

Arclight Tilt Is Slated With Newburgh Tavern Team for Either July 28 or 29

The big Mid-Hudson Baseball League night game between the Newburgh Grandstand Tavern club and the local Gov. Clinton Market team will be played at municipal stadium either Sunday, July 28, or Monday, July 29, spokesmen of the local team said this morning.

Members of the Clintons convened with the city building committee Tuesday evening at the City Hall and worked out details for the scheduled arclight contest.

"We are happy to get the stadium for this after-dark game," Manager Tommy Maines said today. "and we hope a great crowd will be out to see this all-important game. Right now we're contacting Newburgh to ascertain just what date the game will be played."

The Gov. Clintons have ripped off six straight victories in the Mid-Hudson League so far while the Newburgh Grandstanders have won four in a row. The night game here will decide the championship of the newly-organized circuit.

Ex-Boston Hurler Slated to Pitch

Former Brooklyn Dodger Fly-Chaser Also Due to Start Against Recs; Game Starts 9 P. M.

It's baseball night here in Kingston again tonight as the Recreationers, fresh from their recent 7-3 win over Kansas City, engage the highly-touted Mt. Vernon Scarletts at municipal stadium in an arclight feature starting at 9 o'clock sharp.

Ostrom May Pitch

Satisfied with the left-hander's relief stint against the Monarchs last Saturday, Manager Joe Hoffman is expected to send Billy Ostrom back to the hill tonight in an effort to stop the Scarletts and help along victory number two in a row for the locals. If Ostrom does get the nod tonight it will be his first starting assignment on the local mound since 1941. Ostrom hurled three innings of relief last week and allowed but one single and displayed plenty of stuff.

Emerson Dickman, formerly of the Boston Red Sox mound corps will be the Mt. Vernon hurler tonight, according to advance notices. Dickman turned in a number of good ball games for the Sox a few years ago and is the bellwether of the Scarlet staff.

Despite the chilly morning greeted ball fans this morning, expectations were that another large turnout would be in the stands tonight for this stellar mid-week attraction. One of the year's best crowds turned out Saturday to see the Recs rally to defeat the crack Kansas City Monarchs and all of the 2,147 patrons left the stadium satisfied at the showing of the Recs.

Tonight's struggle with Mt. Vernon will be the local's final action before Saturday's big meeting at the uptown ball orchard when Jimmy "Ripper" Collins and his Albany Senators come to town.

Packed With Power

Regarded as one of the finest semi-pro clubs in the metropolitan area, the Scarletts are expected to display plenty of batting prowess tonight at the stadium. Led by the former Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, Nick Tremark, Mt. Vernon has a heavy array of batting power which ranks with the best. Tremark himself has always been a dangerous slugger, and mark is slated to cavort in center while Timmy Adams and Merle Campagna will take over the other or pivot line posts. Both Adams and Campagna also are heavy hitters.

Although the local management hasn't forecast any changes for tonight's after-dark tussle, Bill Epstein, the new catcher, may get the call to start behind the plate. Epstein was in uniform Saturday but failed to see action.

The rest of the lineup will remain intact with the only change coming in rightfield where Ted Sawickie or Jimmy Ashdown will play.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

3. Pictured is the foot action of a player who stepped up and addressed his ball with a heavily lofted club, let's say a No. 7 or No. 8 iron.

He has soled the club behind the ball and lined up his shot. Now he is ready to take the correct stance for a No. 7 or No. 8 iron. As you'll observe in the right picture, he moves his right foot sharply forward and positions it at about right angles to the desired line of flight. Then he opens his left foot sharply. You play the highly lofted clubs from a stance close up to the ball. Your distance from the ball is determined by soiling the club and then taking your stance from the shaft while the clubhead is Automatic isn't it? With the heavily lofted club you make about a three-quarter backswing. But on the backswing too, you are given an almost automatic control because with a wide open stance it's impossible to swing the club back much beyond the three-quarters position. Further, a definitely open stance like this automatically forces you to use the desirable upright swing. The mechanics of golf are pretty nicely worked out to make you do the right thing if you'll only follow the guides.

Lapham Still Mayor

San Francisco, July 17 (AP)—Roger D. Lapham still is mayor of San Francisco. A recall movement to oust the former steamship company executive failed in light balloting yesterday—73,673 for the recall, 105,742 against. The recall movement, dating back to the Lapham-approved increase in the spring of 1935, was sponsored by a group led by Henry F. Budd, publisher of neighborhood weekly throw-away newspapers. Budd early last night conceded the recall attempt had failed.

Sweeney Retires

From Army Court

Trying Col. Kilian

Bad Nauheim, July 17 (AP)—Col. Hardin Sweeney of Omaha, Neb., voluntarily withdrew today as a member of the military court trying Col. James A. Kilian after he was accused for the third time by the prosecution of bias in favor of Kilian, who is charged with cruelty to Lichfield, England, guardhouse prisoners. Kilian's lawyer then challenged both the prosecutor, Major Joseph S. Robinson of New York city, and that he contemplated signing of concealing a long friendship with Kilian, former Lichfield commander, and with hostility toward the prosecution.
